Packaging

Product and package designers make sure the packaging of a product is eye-catching. Most packages have bright colors, a strong logo, and a window to view the product or a picture of the product.