

American Symbols

Statue of Liberty

The Statue of Liberty is a symbol of freedom. When people see the Statue of Liberty, they think about how our country is free. For example, people are free to practice whatever religion they want. People are also free to read any books they want. People are also free to say their opinions. You can say that you don't agree with the president without getting in trouble. People's freedoms are protected in our country. That means you cannot get in trouble for practicing your religion or saying that you disagree with the president.

Liberty Bell

The Liberty Bell is a large bell located in Pennsylvania. This bell was used to celebrate the first reading of the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration of Independence was written by American colonists who wanted to create their own country, the United States. The Liberty Bell is another symbol of freedom, because the colonists wanted to be free from British rule.

American Flag

The American flag is the most well-known American symbol. Every country has a flag that represents them. The American flag is a symbol of freedom, but it can also symbolize other things, like hope for a better life or pride in being American.

White House

The White House is the place where the president and other government leaders work. The White House is a symbol of the American government.

Being a Graphic Designer

A graphic designer chose what colors to use on this dog food bag. A graphic designer also chose to put a picture of a man with his dog.

A graphic designer chose to make a giant eyeball for the "o" in the title. A graphic designer also chose to put pictures of kids doing science experiments.

A graphic designer chose to make the bottle green. A graphic designer also chose the color of the wording and to put blue bubbles around the words.
